

“Doctor, I don’t like it”

Jerzy Pawlak, MSc, PhD, MD; and T.J. Krocak

A 25-year-old man developed two pearly-white, oval, umbilicated, asymptomatic papules on his right temporal area (Figure 1). These lesions have been apparent for the past few months.

Figure 1. Papules on the right temporal area.

1. What is your diagnosis?

- a) Warts
- b) Herpes simplex
- c) Milia
- d) Molluscum contagiosum

2. What is/are the most commonly involved area(s)?

- a) Face
- b) Trunk and axillae
- c) Extremities in children
- d) Pubic and genital areas in adults
- e) All of the above

3. What is the therapeutic option for this condition?

- a) Cryotherapy
- b) Curettage
- c) Cantharidin
- d) Tretinoin
- e) All of the above Dx

Dr. Pawlak is a general practitioner, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Mr. Krocak is a second-year student, faculty of science, University of Winnipeg, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

“Case in Point” is a series of interesting cases and diagnoses so general practitioners can sharpen their skills. Submissions and feedback can be sent to diagnosis@sta.ca.

Answers: 1-d ; 2-e; 3-e